

Today might be the day.

© Bob Beale 2016

Intro: Am/// E7/// //// Am/// and stop . . .

Verse 1

(TACET) Weeeell, [Am] today might be the day that I [E7] roll a lucky seven.

Today might be the day

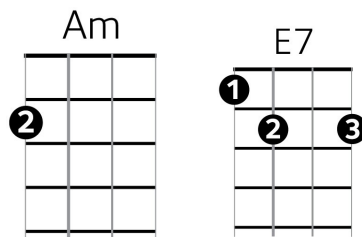

the angels [Am] carry me to heaven.

Today might be the day

the devil [E7] comes to take me home.

Or today might be the day

I find some-[Am]-one (stop) to call my own.

Chorus:

Oh you can [G7] wish and you can beg and you can [C6] pray, but you [G7] never know when love will come your [C6] way.

Any-[G7]-one at any time, you just can't [C] say, oh no,

Just [E7] remember that today might be the [Am] day.

Verse 2

Weeeell, [Am] today might be the day
a rainbow [E7] shines for everyone.

Today might be the day

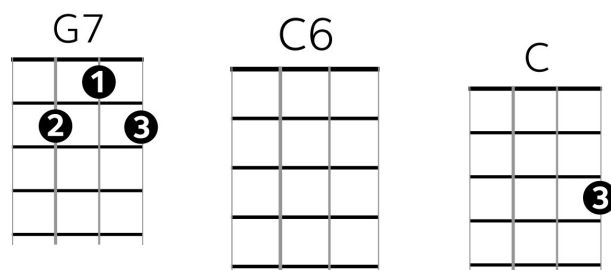

the dark clouds [Am] swallow up the sun.

Today might be the day

My heart [E7] will only give me pain.

Or today might be the day

I go and [Am] fall (stop) in love again.

Chorus

Instrumental using verse chords

Chorus

Verse 3

Weeeell, [Am] today might be the day
I find [E7] a winning lottery ticket.

Today might be the day

I get [Am] the bucket and I kick it.

Today might be the day

that brings me [E7] nothing else but strife.

Or today might be the day

I find the [Am] true (stop) love of my life.

Outro:

With a [E7] bit of luck today might be the [Am] day,

Oh I'm [E7] hoping that today might be the [Am] day,

Well if [E7] things go right today might be the [Am] day.